Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1, drawn to a first product, a polypeptide.

Group II, claim(s) 2, drawn to a second product, a polynucleotide.

Group III, claim(s) 3 and 7, drawn to a first method, for inhibiting a plant growth comprising inhibiting the function of a pyridoxine biosynthesis gene by gene deletion.

Group IV, claim(s) 3 and 7, drawn to a second method for inhibiting a plant growth comprising inhibiting the function of a pyridoxine biosynthesis gene by gene insertion, T-DNA insertion, transposon tagging.

Group V, claim(s) 3 and 7, drawn to third method for inhibiting a plant growth comprising inhibiting the function of a pyridoxine biosynthesis gene by homologous recombination.

Group VI, claim(s) 3 and 7, drawn to a fourth method for inhibiting a plant growth comprising inhibiting the function of a pyridoxine biosynthesis gene by siRNA.

Group VII, claim(s) 8 and 9, drawn to a fifth method, a process for screening a growth inhibitor of plants; and a third product, a composition screened by said process.

Claims 4-6 and 10 are multiple dependent claims in improper form (see MPEP 608.01 (n)), and as such could not properly be placed into a group for examination.

The inventions listed as Groups I-VII do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The technical feature of the groups is a polypeptide involved in pyridoxine biosynthesis. However, such polypeptides were known in the art.

Bouvier et al. (Plant Physiol., 1998, Vol. 117, pages 1423-1431) teach a cDNA, CapTKT2, from pepper plants that is involved in pyridoxine biosynthesis (abstract; page 1429). Further, a pyridoxine biosynthesis protein from Arabidopsis is taught in GenBank Acc. No. CAB1924 (Applicants' search report). The claimed invention lacks a special technical feature.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.
